Meadville Folk Cheered by News Flood Receding

Pennsylvania Rains Send Streams Over Banks;
Train Wrecked by Washout

Meadville, Pa., June 3 (AP)—Streams swollen by heavy spring rains receded and levelled off in Northwestern Pennsylvania today after flooding a dozen communities and wrecking a New York-Chicago passenger train by washing out a section of the Erie Railroad bed.

Most residents of Meadville, a city of 20,000, who had anxiously watched French Creek rise in the night, relaxed their fears when a 2-foot crest passed at 2 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The creek had inundated streets on the city's outskirts and automobiles were warning fifth wheel roadsters to evacuate when the danger passed. Another six inches of water would have flooded the business district.

A higher cleanup job was left to a suburban town, where the main highway, connecting Pittsburgh with Erie and Cleveland, was jammed with debris.

Last night the water ran 10 inches deep on Kirtown's main street.

At Bradford, police reported water ended there at 2:15 a. m. as the Tuna Creek crest passed. The creek had risen as rapidly as any in the area.

State Farms, Roads Flooded Due to Torrential Rains

Landslides Are Reported;
Bridges Washed Out;
Upstate Residents
Leave Homes

Syracuse, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—A torrential downpour over a wide area of the state brought flood conditions today to numerous communities with reports that some streams still were rising.

Highways and farmland were inundated, streets were flooded and many persons were forced to leave their homes.

Reports of flood conditions came from Elmira, Utica, Ithaca, Wells-Ville, Watkins Glen, Montour Falls and Moravia.

At Utica, Walter J. O'Brien, Onondaga county engineer, said numerous reports were being received of landslides, washed out bridges and culverts and flooded highways.

A veterans' housing project at Ithaca was evacuated in the face of rising waters, and at Watkins Glen four persons were rescued from their isolated home by firemen.

Elmira Under Water
Parts of Elmira were under water as the Chemung river, rising at the rate of 10 inches an hour, stood at eight feet above normal at 10 a. m., nine feet below flood stage.

Navigations on the Barge Canal from Watertown to Amsterdam was halted due to high waters. Farm lands along the Mohawk river flats from Oriskany to Herkimer were inundated. The river was reported still rising.

Rainfall measured from approximately 2 1/2 inches to as much as 3.81 inches. The rain was general except for the southeast portion of the state. The weather bureau forecast clearing weather.

For Moravia it was the second flood within two weeks.

More than two feet of water flowed over several of Moravia's streets as both Mill and Dry creeks spilled their banks, and about a third of the village was without water due to a broken main. Water was four feet high in some places.

India to Get Autonomy Very Soon

Announcement Declares
Decision on One or Two Governments Is
Up to Peoples
To Be Dominion
Atlee Says Leaders Are in Favor of Temporary Status

London, June 3 (AP)—The British Government announced today that it will transfer power in India to the Indians almost immediately and leave it to the Indian people to decide whether there shall be one or two governments.

The announcement was made simultaneously by Prime Minister Attlee in the House of Commons; by the viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, in a broadcast to the Indian people; and by the British Government in a white paper.

Legislation will be introduced during the present session of Parliament for the transfer of power this year on a dominion status basis—to one or two self-governing countries which will belong to the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Thus until the absolute withdrawal of the British, scheduled for July 1948, India will be composed of one or two self-governing countries which will belong to the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Atlee said the new British plan, with its offer of temporary dominion status, had been "favorably received by the Indian leaders of Indian political parties."

Backed by Conservatives
Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill threw the backing of the Conservative opposition behind the principle of temporary dominion status for India—whether a united country of 390,000,000 or as a separate Pakistan (Moslem) and Hindustan (Hindu)—but reserved the right to oppose details of the plan.

Churchill said a "blood bath" for India "may stand very near." He added that the partition proposal might "offer to India some prospect of escape from one of the most hideous calamities that has ever ravaged the vast expanses of India."

Communist Willie Gallacher offered the sole opposition to the plan. He said he was "the more suspicious of the solution because Mr. Churchill, who has a bad record in connection with India, gives it such support."

Atlee said considerable progress had been made toward evolving a constitution for India in the Constituent Assembly, where met representatives of the Madras, Bombay, the United Provinces, Bihar, Assam, Orissa and the northeast frontier provinces, Delhi, Ajmer-Merwara and Coorg—all dominated by the Congress Party, which is largely Hindu.

But the Moslem League—including a majority of the representatives of Bengal, the Punjab and Sind—as well as the representative of British Baluchistan, declined not to participate in the Constituent Assembly.

Girl, 13 Months Old, Dies in Hospital As Result of Lollypop Stick Piercing Brain After Fall From Her High Chair

Funeral Services Held at Wallkill For Miss Caswell

Victim of Airliner Tragedy
Was 18; C.A.B. Is to Hold Hearings
June 11 or 12

Funeral services were held at Wallkill, yesterday, and at Yonkers for two victims of the United Airlines DC-4 plane crash last Thursday that took a toll of 42 lives.

As these rites and others were held in various communities throughout the nation, the Civil Aeronautics Board tentatively scheduled hearings on the crash for June 11 or 12.

Miss Audrey Mary Caswell, 18, was buried at Wallkill. Death struck as she took off on the airliner to visit her fiancé, Cpl. Charles Waggoner, Jr., of Medina, Ohio, an air corps soldier stationed at Stewart Field, near Newburgh.

Miss Caswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caswell, was an insurance office clerk in Newburgh, having taken the position three weeks ago. She was a graduate of the Spencian Business College of that city and of Wallkill High School.

Besides her parents, survivors are two brothers, Blair and Clifford, Jr., and a sister, Miss Iris Caswell, all of Wallkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Caswell, who made their daughter farewell at the airport, were unaware of the tragedy until they returned home and received a telegram.

At Yonkers, N. Y., funeral services were held for Theodore A. Alexey, 27, a crash victim who boarded the plane for Cleveland to marry Miss Ruth Santner. Several men who were to have been ushers at the wedding, scheduled for last Saturday, were honorary pallbearers. Miss Santner and several of her relatives attended the services.

Meanwhile, investigators are inspecting every part of the airliner, which crashed near LaGuardia Field just after it attempted takeoff for Cleveland, and determining "what broke first, and where," said George Gay, chief of the board's first region.

The fuselage and one engine of the craft were hoisted yesterday from the marshy pond where it crashed. The pilots' water-soaked log book was recovered and turned over to investigators.

While representatives of the C.A.B., the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the Airline Pilots Association sat in as observers, the airline opened yesterday a series of closed hearings on the crash, and to provide that no tax need be made public at the C.A.B. hearings later.

Wade Case Slated For Trial During June Court Term

Fatal Slashing of Negro,
Lee Thomas, Will Be Heard; Jurors to Report Monday

The first degree manslaughter case of Lindsey Wade, downtown Negro, will be among those held at the June term of county court, it was announced Monday when arrangements were devoted to examining grand and trial jurors.

Wade allegedly stabbed to death Lee Thomas, 50, another Negro at 11 Ann street in an altercation over a woman. According to the police, Wade, after accusing Thomas with "running around" with his girl friend, pulled a knife and slashed his throat. Thomas died within 15 minutes, the police say.

An extra panel of six grand jurors was drawn yesterday when the original slate divided to 17 after four had been excused, one was reported ill and two dead. All grand jurors are to report next Monday at 2 p. m.

Of the trial panel, 23 remained after excusals had been heard. These jurors also will report next Monday afternoon.

County Court recessed for the week since Supreme Court is being continued.

District Attorney Louis Bruhn will present his criminal calendar for call on June 9 and trial and criminal matters will commence on June 16.

Fifteen civil cases on the calendar will be called June 9 at 2 p. m., the date to which county court adjourned.

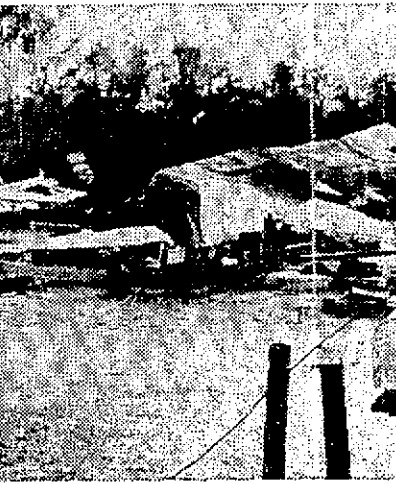

Public Hearings Ordered
Washington, June 3 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee today ordered public hearings on universal training after Karl T. Compton termed the international "two services to justify delay." Compton, who headed President Truman's advisory commission which recommended universal training, telegraphed the committee: "There is no certainty that intrigue backed with force has been abandoned as an instrument for national aggrandizement and unhappily the present actual evidence in some quarters points otherwise."

West Point, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower today told 311 cadets being graduated from the United States Military Academy that "the true soldier of America is a leader for world cooperation."

The chief of staff said the cadets' "special and pressing obligation" was national security, but added it could never be achieved "in the absolute sense, unless all other peoples feel equally safe."

Relative security, only, is possible through strength of arms, Eisenhower said. "The true soldier of America, therefore, is a leader for world cooperation, knowing that to serve best the security of his country he must work for the cause of peace. Here is a lasting challenge to your breadth of understanding and less than is a continuing professional development."

Edelmuth Does Not Support Rumors He Won't Run Again

Mayor Says He Has Not Decided What He Would Do; Says
He Has Time

Mayor William F. Edelmuth is considered by local political observers a possibility for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

The mayor, who has been elected three times to the office, said today that he had not made up his mind whether he would make a bid for or accept the nomination.

The statement, although it does not definitely commit the mayor, contradicts widespread reports in the city that he had decided not to run for the office again.

His duties as mayor required more immediate thought at this time, he said, and since he still had two weeks before the Democratic city convention, he preferred making no statement as to his decision one way or the other at this time.

It was reported by some sources earlier this year that the mayor definitely would not seek the nomination under any circumstances, but his lack of decision, as reported today, appears still to leave the way open for his candidacy.

Others among the politically informed reported some time ago that Walter Donnarumma, local insurance man, and N. Jansen Fowler, local attorney, have been considered as possible Democratic candidates.

B.P.W. Starts Road Work
On Elmendorf Street

Work on the rebuilding of Elmendorf street was started by workmen of the Board of Public Works yesterday and it was expected that the final paving of Main street will start this week, Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of Public Works announced today.

The final phase of the Main street project was expected to start today, the superintendent said, but it was delayed because of the weather. Weather predictions for tomorrow indicated a fair day, and it was expected that the final layer of Main street pavement will be laid.

Telephone company workmen are also at work this week on an excavation on Green street for the laying of conduits on a main line through the city.

Frantic Efforts Made to Save Life; Rushed to Hospital by Police Officer Kinch

Commandeers Car
Automobile of Loughran
Park Resident Used for Hospital Trip

Darlene Whittaker, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Whittaker, 621 Broadway, died at the Kingston Hospital at 4:35 a. m. today from effects of a deep wound in her head which she suffered in a fall from a high chair in her home.

The child's death followed frantic efforts of her mother and Officer Howard A. Kinch of the local police to save her life.

The wound, which reached the infant's brain, was caused by a lollypop stick which pierced an eyelid and penetrated deep into the head through the left eye as she fell from the chair.

Officer Kinch, who was off duty at the time, was across the street from the Whittaker home which is near the Gillespie store. He saw Mrs. Whittaker at the door with the child in her arms and heard her screaming frantically.

Places Child in His Arms
The patrolman ran to her aid and as he crossed Broadway, Mrs. Whittaker in her desperate call for aid appeared confused and ran back into the house. The officer followed her up a stairway and when she saw him she placed the infant in his arms.

Officer Kinch hurried through traffic across Broadway and commandeered the auto of Robert Ross of Loughran Park and the latter rushed the child to the hospital. The patrolman advised attendants at the hospital to call Dr. Harold A. Wilcox at once. The officer hurried to the hospital and treated the child but the injury had proved of too serious a nature for chances of recovery.

Mrs. Whittaker, with frantic pleas for speedy assistance, accompanied the officer and Ross to the hospital and the car made the trip as fast as possible through heavy traffic.

Officer Kinch, who is on night duty, left the hospital to report for duty soon after leaving the child with hospital attendants. The experience, he reported later, had left him ill and he was forced to ask to be excused from duty shortly after reporting at his post.

The officer said the fact that the injury was of such an ugly nature and that the child was so young and helpless has its effects on all who saw it in its pitiful plight.

Besides her parents, the infant is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rich and Mr. and Mrs. David Whittaker. The funeral will be held from the Johnson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

Cashin Releases Delavan
To Support His Family

A judgment of City Court had directed that Raymond Delavan of Kingston pay $15 weekly toward the support of his wife and child and post a $500 bond to guarantee payment, was modified by County Judge John M. Cashin Monday when he directed that the posting of the bond be dismissed. Delavan was released from jail where he had been remanded for failure to post the bond. Bernard A. Callout appeared for Delavan and sought to have the judgment modified so that Delavan might get back to work.

Delavan was charged in City Court with being a disorderly person. In dismissing the bond requirement, Judge Cashin stated he was doing so in order that defendant might get back to work and pay the $15. He placed defendant on probation and directed one of the conditions of probation was the payment of $15 weekly to his Australian bride and her child. Delavan said he had a job waiting. The wife and child now resides with Delavan's mother in this city.

HIGHWAY FATALITIES

Two hundred twenty-three persons were killed in automobile accidents during the nation's three-day Memorial Day holiday.

Before we have another disgraceful carnage over the Fourth of July holiday, it will be well for every motor vehicle operator and pedestrian to realize that he or she holds the secret to the cause or prevention of traffic accidents.

Despite very heavy traffic on highways in Ulster county, there were no fatal traffic accidents and few automobile mishaps.

With continued proper respect for the rules of the road and the rights of others, the toll of dead and injured can be further lessened.

NATIONAL TAXPAYER WEEK

From out Oklahoma way comes the suggestion that the week of June 8 be proclaimed National Taxpayer Week.

Weeks were set aside in May for first aid, golf, raisins, cleanup, foot health and poetry. In fact, 61 National Weeks have been set aside so far for 1947.

It would seem logical that we have a National Taxpayer Week too. After all, taxpayers are the one class of people that government couldn't get along without. Those on the public payroll necessarily can only be paid so long as taxpayers are able to make ends meet. Those who hope for social security from government will find that ultimately this depends on the solvency of the American taxpayer.

Taxpayers, however, are not asking government to set the week aside for them. They are arranging their own observance by letting public officials know what they think of the high cost of government.

As the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey has stated, the cost of government is now exceeding the cost of food. Yet you can't eat government—unless you happen to be on the public payroll.

The only way in which John Taxpayer can help to make the cost of government go down so that there will be more income left, after taxes, to buy food is to make as much noise to his U. S. Senators and Representatives as the federal department and bureau promoters stir up every time Congress talks about reducing their appropriations.

Taxpayers can make National Taxpayer Week a thumping success—even without official proclamations—if they will take a half hour of their time and nine cents in stamps to write to their Senators and Representative in support of those who are trying to reduce federal expenditures.

Bureaucrats have plenty of time to stir up synthetic sentiment for spending which will benefit them. Taxpayers had better take some time to do a job on their own behalf.

LESSONS FROM THE PAST

Now that the world's concern with the immediacy of war is over, man can give attention again to the mystery of his past. Archaeologists are returning to their diggings, and unearthing evidence that human nature doesn't change much, despite the passing of centuries.

A University of Pennsylvania authority recently announced the deciphering of a 5,000-year-old clay tablet which shows that the ancient Mesopotamians were thoroughly familiar with psychological warfare. The strange hieroglyphics reveal that an old-time king conquered another tribe after his first dire threats failed, when he finally changed his tactics, sent them gifts of food and promised them happiness and freedom from war. They promptly got rid of their own despotic ruler and joined him.

Few nations fight for the sake of war itself. They take up arms to achieve basic rights: freedom, peace, food, shelter, happiness. If they can be persuaded that such objectives are attainable without warfare, they pick the peaceful method. Man has been a long time learning this lesson, but it is none the less true and sound.

The archaeologists are not really discovering anything new. But we could have a new

HOI POLLOI JIM

The Democrats here in New York last week produced some bad blood that started like a bit of Bronx monkey-business and has, by now, billowed into a furor. The Democrats and the Republicans have a long history of rivalry, but on the same night, the Republicans modestly fixed their price at $50; the Democrats following their custom of $100 a ticket.

Ed Flynn, boss of the Bronx, the principal patronage dispenser, does not like Jim Farley. In fact, he feuds with Farley, although the genial Jim does not feud with Ed Flynn. That burns up the Bronx Baron because he apparently cannot understand why the former Kingmaker grows more gay, more genial, more likeable, in spite of the displeasure of Flynn.

So Jim Farley, Herbert Lehman, and Eleanor Roosevelt were not invited to sit among the great on the dais at the Democratic dinner. They were placed among the lesser jobholders, the obedient servants of political bossism, the judges, district leaders, commissioners and others who could afford to buy tickets at $100 a piece or had to.

Herbert Lehman, thrice governor of the state, formerly director of UNRRA, rich in honors in his party, the state and the nation, and also in cash, is not accustomed to a back seat. So he went home.

Eleanor Roosevelt did not show up at all. But Jim Farley took it all in his stride. Farley is an extraordinarily tall man, well bodied, with a shiny bald-head and becomes a neon star under a spotlight. Therefore wherever Jim stands, he can be seen and the boys rally around for old times' sake. Most of the diners did not know that Governor Lehman had gone home in high dudgeon, but everybody knew that Jim Farley was having a whale of a time among his polloi. The naive believed that Jim, having turned Coca Cola salesman, preferred to be among the customers. The more intelligent realize that he had been slipped a hot foot by Ed Flynn, and that it had turned out to be a Bronx cheer for the aforesaid Ed.

All of which amounts to nothing except that it shows how desperate are the Big City Bosses who ruled so single-handedly for a decade and a half. Flynn is particularly sore at the trend of events, for he just lost the juiciest patronage plum in this area.

The local federal judgeship, which carries with it considerable patronage, should have gone to a Flynn appointee and so it was expected. But the inside story is that the Judiciary Committee of the Association of the Bar, through its chairman, Bethuel M. Webster, saw the attorney general, offering the services of the committee in passing on candidates placed before the attorney general. Tom Clark asked Mr. Webster, "What candidates have you?" When Mr. Webster told him that he had none, the attorney general asked the committee to recommend. All the Bar Associations and individuals joined in recommending Harold Medina, professor of law at Columbia University. More distinguished lawyers joined in this proposal than had favored a candidate for a judicial office in a generation. At one time the President of the American Bar Association, President of the State Bar Association, the President of the Bar of the City of New York, the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association and others appeared in person urging Medina's appointment. Against this united effort of the Bar stood Ed Flynn, Bronx Boss, who did not want Medina. But Harold Medina was appointed.

Nothing that has happened here in years knocked over Ed Flynn's power and prestige as a boss as did the Medina appointment. It told the boss that there are no longer any keys to the backdoor of the White House—that is, not for Ed Flynn. It made him look small. So he took it out on Farley, Lehman and Eleanor Roosevelt. Farley had a grand and glorious time among the neighbors. They tell me that Farley just shook hands with the 1500 guests who paid $100 to get in and called each by name and asked each that personal question which hits that spot of ego in all of us.

That Body of Yours

REHABILITATION

When members of our armed forces returned safely to their homes, most of us may not have given it further thought but, unfortunately, many were unable to resume their occupations because of some handicap caused by their war service. This means that they must be restored to the condition in which they were accepted by the army, navy, or air force. If making allowance for their present age, they cannot be brought back to their former condition, naturally it is up to the government to provide an adequate pension.

Despite the fact that there may be a few individuals in military and also in civilian life who "enjoy poor health," the vast majority naturally want to be the better physically and will try their best to re-establish themselves. Some interesting figures on the results obtained in the re-establishment or rehabilitation as it is more properly called, of returned men and women is reported in the "Illinois Medical Journal," Chicago, by Drs. E. F. Pearson and D. Darling.

It is the responsibility of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation to help in the vocational rehabilitation of the estimated 56,000 persons who can be aided to become productive and make a living for themselves. In order that the medical profession of Illinois should be familiar with the situation and lend all possible aid to these handicapped returned men and women, Drs. Pearson and Darling outline the different diseases and ailments requiring treatment.

These are the deaf and hard of hearing, epileptic, heart, tuberculosis and blind patients, the crippled, the mentally ill and others are eligible for service "if there is a reasonable possibility that the individual will be able to engage in an occupation after rehabilitation." Services available include medical, surgical and physical treatment. After patient is or nearly physically fit, he may be trained for a job. In Illinois it cost about $800 last year to rehabilitate an individual, but it cost as much as $500 to support a dependent handicapped person.

Helping the individual who has given so much to his country, to be able to support himself and thus raise his morale is the aim of the government. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Something Tells Us We're Being Played for Suckers

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 2 — Most biographers of the late F. D. R. shun the subject of the origins of the large family fortune which has now been handed down to the widow and dodging certain taxes. The reason is that the works from which most of the estate was derived were nefarious by any standard. Of the remainder a substantial portion came from non-union coal mines.

We have learned that old Warren Delano, the late President's grandfather, was an opium smuggler in Canton, China, and founded his fortune on this criminal trade. He was, in his time, like the corsairs in stocking caps who brought our grog to rum run in the 1920's. For historical interest, I offer two letters written in Shanghai in 1847 and 1848 which I shall bequeath to the great Pegler Memorial Library which I am founding in recognition of certain widely imperceptible virtues.

These are letters of instruction from Russell and Co., which was Delano's firm, written in the hand of W. P. Pierce, who appears to have been their Shanghai agent. They were addressed to the master of the schooner Petrie, in Chinchew Bay.

"Dear Sir," says the first. "The Anglona sails tomorrow for Chinchew with 60 chests of Patua opium which she brought from Cumingnoong regarding the sale of which you will receive the instructions of Russell and Co., Canton. We have put on board 15 chests of old Malwa which we cannot sell at its value in Woosung. The bill of lading you will get under another cover and as it regards the sales of this drug we will say that we would suppose it to be worth $300 per picul (133 pounds) but cannot get for it $200. We request that you do the best you can with it and send the sales to Messrs. Russell and Co., Canton, with particular account of each mark. Our market for opium is languid but still firm in prices. Patua $625 to $630 and Malwa $530.

Your obedient servants
 W. P. Pierce,
 Pro Russell and Co.,

The second letter advises the captain of the schooner Petrie, again in Chinchew Bay, that the Anglona arrived at Woosung yesterday and will be dispatched next morning to Chinchew, Amoy and Canton.

"Enclosed is copy of our letter to you of the 25th ultimo via Hong Kong," it says. "The same quotations for opium are current today. The market has been firm and the sales quite as good as usual of Patua. There is none left in the hands of importers and stock is small in the Chinese hands. The low prices have induced an active trade in Patua, the demand being apparently good. We look for the Antelope daily and suppose the Mazippa and one or two other vessels are on the way up the coast with a good supply of new drug, both Patua and Malwa."

The grandfather of the famed Roosevelt must have been a very rough bucko mate, for those were dangerous days at sea and the records of our Navy as of that time reveal a degradation of men that can be just believed but scarcely imagined now. If Captain Delano lived today he would certainly grab his pistol and yell to his officers to flog and keel-haul every mother's son in any crew of the national maritime union and hang a few for example.

The historical record now shows that the Delano family owned and operated certain non-union coal properties at Gracetown and Vinordale, Pa., with company stores and schools and company undertakers and with armed guards to keep the organizers out. This last condition continued until John L. Lewis warned Frederick Delano, the uncle of the President, that he would issue a public statement, and thereupon the organizers were let in.

Now, I discover, both old Warren Delano, the opium smuggler, and James Roosevelt, the late Franklin's father, were directors of the Consolidation Coal Company, one of our greatest coal, steamship, railroad, canal and land companies, and probably handed down to Sara Roosevelt and Franklin and Eleanor for their luxurious living their stock in a rich company which, in its day, took a very resolute stand against unreasonable demands by the miners.

Delano was a director from 1864 to 1875 and James Roosevelt from 1868 to 1875. This data is given with a note of pride in a history of the company published on its seventieth anniversary in 1934.

"The bright prospects of 1881 were dimmed the following year by a strike of the miners and laborers in the Cumberland region," the history relates. The strike was fomented by the knights of labor which dictated prices for mining and labor and forced on the companies rules and regulations as injurious as the high prices of labor. The companies finally announced a reduction in wages and there ensued the longest strike that ever had occurred in that region. There was another strike in 1886, called by the Federation of Miners and Laborers. It ran for ten weeks and like the earlier strike, failed when work was resumed without any concessions whatever from the companies."

Again, in 1894, the companies reluctantly reduced wages and the men were quite sensible, but W. B. Wilson of the United Mine Workers came in and work stopped in all but three mines. This time it was necessary to call in the Maryland militia to restore order.

We must inquire further to learn how long the late President's family continued to live the aristocratic life, here and amid the pleasure and palaces of Europe on the old opium fortune and the income from the mines.

"The fact that Delano and James Roosevelt ceased to be directors in 1875 need not mean that they sold their large stock interests."

"In May, 1927," the history says, "consolidation properties became entirely non-union." Before this about 40 per cent of the company's output came from union mines, but operations at these properties stopped early in 1925. They were resumed later with company unions in control. McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

A Clever Overtake
 Beats Two Spades

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
 America's Card Authority
 Written for NEA Service

One reason tournament bridge is on the increase throughout the country is that it provides a medium for making new friends and renewing old acquaintanceships. At every tournament one always will see some of the same people met at other tournaments. Local organizations of the American Contract Bridge League are giving more and more thought to the social entertainment side of the game.

A very nice gesture along this line was made at the recent Midwest Regional Tournament in St. Louis, Mo. Each woman who played in the mixed pair championship was given a corsage of gardenias with a little card attached reading, "It has been nice to have you with us." The idea originated with C. H. Bayless, president of the St. Louis unit of the League.

Bayless was too busy looking after everybody's welfare to play much, but I saw him handle the defense of today's hand in championship style. When declarer played low from dummy on the opening heart lead, most East players would just put on the six of hearts—but not Mr. Bayless. He overtook his partner's jack with the queen and led back the ten of diamonds. South covered with the jack and West won.

West lost no time in returning the six of diamonds, which South won with the king. But declarer could not put Bayless from winning the lead with the ace of hearts and cashing a diamond. Thus East and West took two heart tricks, two diamonds and two clubs... and remember that in tournament bridge, it is just as important to beat a part score contract as any other.

Phases of New Labor Law as Affecting Individual's Right to Work Are Discussed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 3.—If William Green, president of the A.F.L., or Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O., should again call the proposed labor law a "slave labor" measure, they certainly will not be referring to the effect of the conference bill on the unions but much more to the effect on persons who are not members of the union.

For the new bill neither guarantees nor protects the right of work while it specifically extols the right to quit work. Nowhere in the entire measure can a single phrase be found that protects the American worker who wants to cross a picket line or who wants to be safeguarded against violence in mass picketing.

Defenders of the measure say that the bill contains a provision which declares it is an "unfair labor practice" for a union or its agents "to restrain or coerce employees" but unfortunately that language is limited so that it refers only to restraints or coercion against employees in the exercise of their rights of self-organization. A worker, to be sure, can't be forced into a union any more by the bill because of it, but, in the future as in the past, a worker gets no protection from the federal government in his right to work.

The specious argument was made in the debate on the bill that this isn't a matter for federal police power. Yet the employer can be put in jail if he imports strikebreakers from another state. The federal police power has been invoked in this instance by Congress, so there can be no excuse for the contention that policing in labor disputes is left entirely to the states.

It is being argued by defenders of the conference bill, moreover, that a worker has a right to join or to refrain from any union or activities and that this may be stretched to include union mass picketing. This would mean that the National Labor Relations Board would have to rule that crossing a mass-picketing line is refraining from union activity, but that seems a bit far-fetched in the absence of any specific federal prohibition against individuals. Union workers as individuals are protected absolutely by injunctions or any other clause of the proposed labor law, for if any worker quits he can't be punished for so doing. The language of this proviso which effectively puts an end to the cry about "slave labor" for union men is as follows:

"Nothing in this act shall be construed to require an individual employee to render labor or service without his consent, nor shall anything in this act be construed to make the quitting of his labor by an individual employee an illegal act; nor shall any court have any process to compel the performance by an individual employee of such labor or service, without his consent; nor shall the quitting of labor by an employee or employees in good faith because of abnormally dangerous conditions for work at the place of employment of such employee or employees be deemed a strike under this act."

That the bill contains a provision which declares it is an "unfair labor practice" for a union or its agents "to restrain or coerce employees" but unfortunately that language is limited so that it refers only to restraints or coercion against employees in the exercise of their rights of self-organization. A worker, to be sure, can't be forced into a union any more by the bill because of it, but, in the future as in the past, a worker gets no protection from the federal government in his right to work.

The annual year-end faculty dinner planned by the faculty welfare committee was held at the Hotel Palatine in Newburgh Wednesday evening. The dinner is an annual affair given in honor of those who are terminating their service as faculty members at the college.

The faculty decided to commend the service of the faculty members who retired in 1947 by adding a fund to the amount to the faculty Commemorative Loan Fund for students. The program included an address by Dr. W. Haggerty followed by musical selections. The following members of the Campus School terminated their services: Mrs. Mary Page, Miss Minnie Wolcott, Miss Elizabeth Bressi, Miss Joan Goetz, Robert Moore, Miss Carolyn Morhouse, Miss Judith O'Reilly Shelly, Miss Marion Underhill and Miss Mary Jane Dickerson.

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary educational society, held its last meeting Friday 21. Miss Margaret Ailes was elected president to succeed Ruth Kyrnones. Other officers are Rita Santillo, vice-president; Kay Romer, secretary; Marie Ambrose, treasurer; and Marilyn Miller, historian. The Kappa Delta Pi held its banquet at the Old Fort recently with 22 members on hand. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Haggerty, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Will, Miss McKern, Miss Van Arendonk and Miss Ruth Havens.

Summer School Plans

The summer session at the school will open June 30 and close August 3. Registration day is June 30. The summer session will offer two programs—one a program of courses which may be used to complete the fourth year of work and the other a workshop in early childhood education. This workshop is especially designed for teachers of children from three to eight years of age. Mrs. Lewis will direct the summer session. Dr. Allen, Loren Campbell, Dr. C. Huntington, Dr. O. Lincoln Igon, Dr. Jacobson, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Tulloch, Miss Jeanette Van Arendonk and Dr. Roland G. Will are the regular faculty will offer courses this summer. Visiting faculty will be John A. Christ, Vassar who will teach English courses; Peter M. Bian, Columbia University, who will teach sociology and Charles C. Griffen, head of Vassar history department, who will teach an elective in international relations. There are plans to have one or two more off campus instructors in the English electives group and one more in social science. Students may register for a program of six or eight semester hours. The Campus School Library will again be open as usual. Once a day a week for the convenience of the children of the village. The cafeteria will serve three meals a day and the college dorms will be open for use. The Student Council will function during the summer and has interesting activities in the offing which will include a summer paper, several lectures and various social activities.

The three classes which return next fall held elections of officers for the coming year last week under the direction of the election committee. The future senior class election Violet Sombathy, president; Tom Luckman, vice-president; Marie Dabney, secretary and La Verne Wallace, treasurer. The present sophomores chose a returned veteran who entered the college in April, 1946. He is William Eldard who was named president. Doris Rave, vice-president, was elected. Secretary and Frank Moran, treasurer. The freshmen re-elected Dit Pucci, president; Pat Hughes, vice-president. The treasurer and secretary nominations were closed until September.

Dr. Haggerty has received word that the Public Service Commission has issued an order which will now make it possible for students to ride the Atholbrook Transit Lines (Trailways) bus between Kingston and New Paltz during the hours of 6 p. m. and 3 a. m. This order is effective immediately and the drivers have been instructed to carry passengers during these hours. A reduced rate system also is being worked out whereby students may obtain the same rate as on the liner bus line.

The travel council will collaborate with the New York State Publicity Bureau in helping to further travel and resort interests in the state. Formation of the organization had been under discussion for some time among resort and travel interests of the state with the aim of distributing information on attractions and facilities for travel; developing travel; expanding commerce and industry and to raise standards and accommodation for tourists and travelers.

Members of the council include resort owners, regional directors, bus and travel lines and hotel operators. Their aim is to see that all resort areas get a share of the vacation business through enlightening publicity about the attractions in the various sections of New York state.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 3 (AP)—Selected stocks took on a mild recovery tinge today although buying still was exceptionally timid.

The ticker tape barely moved during the first hour in which volume of 100,000 shares duplicated the low for this period since last July. Motors and steel came to the fore with a slight pickup in activity. By midday early declines were erased and replaced by plus signs in the majority of cases. Subsequent slowdowns were frequent but advances of fractions to a point or so predominated near the fourth hour.

Such bidding as appeared was credited to the thought that Monday's drying up of offerings indicated the list was in a healthy condition and able to resume the upswing if the news warranted. Skeptical professionals and brokerage clients however, continued to trim accounts or hold aloof pending more light on the economic picture, labor and tax legislation, and foreign affairs.

Better. The list of new offerings included Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Great Northern Railway, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, American Telephone, Goodyear, Goodrich, United Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, American Smelting, J. C. Penney and Standard Oil (N.J.).

SHOKAN

Shokan, June 2—George White, one of the old timers in these parts, is now at the home of his daughters, Mrs. Bert Jones, in Kingston following his return from the hospital.

Charles and Mary Jackson are ill at their home. Leonard Press of Mineola drove here Friday to see his friend, Martin Retling. Mr. Press was unaware that the Retling family moved to West Hurley some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scherer, New York couple, who for several years maintained a summer home on Route 28, were holiday guests at the Chloey Bell tourist home. (Gebbelein & Carlson, village farmers, are constructing a two-car cement ramp at their garage entrance.)

The blue waters of the capacity-filled Ashokan basins presented a grand sight Memorial Day. "Most beautiful country in the world," enthused one visitor after morning across the dividing river bridge and the main dam.

June 1, 1911: Report of Ashokan Commission hearing on claim of Egbert Dederick for damages to summer boarding business reveals that Mr. Dederick annually had more applicants than he and his wife could accommodate. The Dederick farmhouse on Brown's Station hill (known to some as Mt. Hope) adjoined a grove of chestnut trees and was shaded by a number of fine old locusts; there was a view of High Point and Beaverkill streams were just under the hill. Not only New Yorkers but people from Boston and Washington would come there and insist upon board for the season. "They considered our locust and chestnut shade almost worth the board bill," testified Mr. Dederick, in relating how, just a plain farmer, he had been virtually ruined into the boarding business.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deul of New York came here for the holiday and stopped at the Pheasant Inn. Mr. Deul is the former Helen Ma and of Shokan and Roy's name is on the local servicemen's memorial tablet. Mrs. Robert Bostock and infant son of Philadelphia spent the week-end with Mrs. Bostock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of the mountain road. It's a fact: The chair factory at Chichester in the early 1870's was turning out 120,000 chairs, using 1,000,000 feet of lumber and employing 100 men. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, summer residents and owners of the local ball grounds, are driving one of the new Pontiac sedans. The pupils of Teacher Ruth Weir's Ashokan school netted the sum of $12.31 from their food sale last Wednesday. A good crowd saw the Ashokan ball team trim the Cement Mixers, 2-1, at the Ashokan home grounds Friday afternoon.

Tried to 'Help' May

Washington, June 3 (AP)—Munitions maker Henry Garsson said today that he tried to give Andrew J. May "compensation" for business help when May was wartime chairman of the House Military Committee but May refused it. Garsson testified before a federal court trying him, his brother, Murray, and May on war bribe charges. He related that May had been doing so much work for him in managing a Garsson-financed lumber firm in Kentucky he suggested to May that he should get paid for it. The government charges that the Garsson brothers paid May $55,000 in bribes through the Cumberland Lumber Company for wartime favors which the former Kentucky congressman allegedly obtained for the Garsson munitions combine.

Woodstock News

Acosta Is Doing Aircraft Research, Interview Reveals

Woodstock, June 3.—Bert Acosta, internationally famous as an aviator during and following World War I, came out of his seclusion for a visit to Woodstock during the week-end.

In an exclusive interview with this correspondent, Bert stated that for many months he has been at the home of the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, Graymoor. Bert was much more interested in flying about the Franciscan Friars than himself. He said "The Fathers and Brothers are interested in developing not only the spiritual but the material side of life. Their work has been known all over the world and so far as I know, it is the only order of its kind in the world that really offers sincere assistance to everyone."

Engaged in Research

When asked about flying, Bert replied, "I still thoroughly enjoy flying and will always do a certain amount of it for my own education and instruction. . . . We never know enough about it, but I don't think I will make flights of any particular note, only test work in higher speed elements. Research in aviation is my chief interest. . . . Aero dynamics and jet propulsion in order to gain higher speed in present day aircraft. Booster jet propulsion will be used and I am also working on the mechanical possibilities of that."

Bert reminisced about his previous visit to Woodstock shortly after World War I. He was flying over this area and gave way to a desire to put his plane down in what appeared to be a beautiful field. As is usual in Woodstock, he received an enthusiastic welcome, thoroughly enjoyed his visit, and determined to return one day.

May Move to Woodstock

Because of the limited facilities at the Mount, Bert would like to find a suitable place in Woodstock where he can set up his own drafting room and continue with his experimental research and futuristic designing, because "an aviation like so many other fields, it is necessary to keep ahead of present day progress."

He will miss the life at the Mount and particularly his association with Father Guardian Angelus whom he described as "one of the most outstanding characters there. As a matter of fact, they are all wonderful men, I have never met finer in my life."

Dr. Harold Rugg Speaks at Meeting

Woodstock, June 3.—At a garden party for friends and members of the Progressive Citizens of America, Ulster County Chapter, Dr. Harold Rugg, professor of education at Columbia University, announced that Henry Pratt Fairchild, professor of sociology at New York University, would speak at the Woodstock Playhouse on the evening of June 7.

In addition to the announcement, Dr. Rugg gave an account of Henry Wallace's recent trip across the United States in the interest of P.C.A. Professor Rugg stated that Wallace had addressed more than one million people during his tour. Commenting on the financial aspect of Wallace's peregrinations, Rugg said, "before this trip, the P.C.A. was in debt to the extent of $125,000. After Henry Wallace finished, the debt was liquidated." He explained that the funds were raised through membership subscriptions and personal contributions.

There was a lighter side to the garden party. Edward Chavez,

Woodstock painter and guitarist, played and sang a number of Mexican songs. Other instrumental music was played by John Pike and Carl Hubbel.

Tasuo Kuniyoshi, one of the well known artists present, presented a number of original drawings and prints to several of those present. The garden party took place along the edge of a beautiful swimming pool on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Popping in High Woods.

King Is Winner At Country Club

Woodstock, June 3.—The handicap sweepstakes which marked the opening of the Woodstock Country Club Friday afternoon was won by Theodore King with a score of 74, net. George Sprick was second with a score of 75 net.

The main room of the club house was festive with its candlelight and white dogwood arrangements when the members and guests arrived in the late afternoon for the open house party.

Those who had been away during the winter months were obviously very happy to greet their friends and catch up on Woodstock doings in their absence.

Many of the younger members who have been away at school were home for the holiday week-end and had a jolly time together.

Hearing Scheduled On Local Justices

Woodstock, June 3.—A public hearing will be held in the Town Clerk's office on Thursday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of granting permission to have two justices in place of two councilmen. These justices would serve for a term of four years.

The present councilmen are Harrison Gridley and Roland Shultis. Mr. Shultis' term expires this year.

String Quartet to Open Summer Series July 10

Woodstock, June 3.—Engelbert Roentgen, upon the completion of another successful concert tour, is now devoting his time as manager of the Woodstock String Quartet which will open a series of nine concerts Thursday, July 10, at the Woodstock Methodist Hall. All concerts will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Roentgen, collector for the world famous Metropolitan Opera Association, completed a nine-week tour covering 10,000 miles, 10 different states and playing before more than a quarter of a million of opera fans. The organization is booked for a two-week appearance in Los Angeles in 1948.

Inez Carroll, pianist, will be the guest artist in Robert Shumann's piano quintet at the opening concert.

In addition, a composition for string quartet played by the Woodstock group and composed by its first violinist and leader of the organization, Mario Vitella, will have its first public performance at the concert. The composition is called "The Five Catskill Landscapes."

Will Open New Shop

Woodstock, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Ruth Davis will soon open a Woodstock Kiddie Shop; in the recently acquired Barnes property. Everything for the baby from hand-made booties to coats will be found in this new shop. An unusual feature of this enterprise will be good but used baby clothes which are still so hard to find. Babies outgrow their clothes so quickly that Mrs. Davis believes the idea of buying and selling used ones will be very popular. As soon as the alterations to the building are completed, the opening date will be announced.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, June 3.—Due to the severe thunderstorm Thursday evening and the consequent lack of lights, the card party and rummage sale scheduled for the High Falls fire hall for the benefit of the Marbletown Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary were postponed to June 5. Tickets issued for last Thursday will be honored for this party. A large number of very useful articles, many of them new, have been donated for the rummage sale. The public is cordially invited to attend both the sale and card party.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Eggs Poached?

Richmond, Va., June 3 (AP)—When Policeman Dan Duling tried to question a man about an egg theft, the answer was 30 dozen eggs—thrown at him.

The situation was somewhat scrambled for a while, but Duling got his man. And the man got four months in jail.

Sudden Change

Cleveland, June 3 (AP)—The Weather Bureau missed one prediction yesterday—that there would be showers inside its office at Cleveland airport.

But the employees were prepared for the emergency. They worked in raincoats until a leaky roof was repaired.

Melrose Park, Pa., June 3 (AP)—Seven-year-old "Butch" Lemon was poking around the cellar and came across some old writings by his father, Dr. Neil Lemon, and delivered them from door-to-door in his neighborhood.

The papers told parents how to cure for children convulsions from tonsillitis.

Every Dollar Counts

Chicago, June 3 (AP)—The County Board has been asked to honor a $50 check for jury service performed 20 years ago by a millionaire.

Attorney Oscar D. Stern, who is handling the estate of Charles B. Goodspeed, steel casting manufacturer, made the request, he told the board yesterday, only because he was required by law to list assets of the estate. Goodspeed died February 25, leaving a $5,000,000 estate to charity.

The uncashed voucher, dated October 31, 1927, was found among Goodspeed's effects. Stern's request was referred to the county auditor.

Boy Hangs Self

New York, June 3 (AP)—Eight-year-old Clifford Scott accidentally hanged himself last night, police said, while showing two companions the penalty for violating the code of their "Secret Society." Police said the boys had decided an offender must hang himself until he counted five. The Scott boy placed a noose around his neck and kicked a box from under his feet. Frightened, his companions ran for aid but the boy was dead when help came. The victim was the son of the chief engineer of the Creedmoor State Hospital in Queens Village.

Dodgers Adopt Active List Of 16 Players

In order to meet player limits according to official North Atlantic League regulations, the Kingston Dodgers have given outright and unconditional releases to pitcher Robert Meyers, a southpaw, and outfielder Bud Lane.

Fred Seiden, another hurler for the lead nine, has been placed on the disabled list for five days, but is expected to be ready to be on the mound Thursday, June 5, when the Dodgers engage Mahanoy City in a doubleheader at the stadium. Pitcher Zigmund, still on the disabled list, will join his squad tomorrow.

Roger Brown, who hurled the Dodgers to an 8-6 win over the Bloomingdale Troopers at the stadium Saturday night, after getting off to a bad start by walking the first three men to face him, has been reinstated from the suspended to the active list.

The Dodgers now have 16 players on the active list.

Frank's Sport Shop Defeats Dargan's

By JOE REICHLER
A.P. Sports Writer

Dave (Boo) Ferriss may yet realize his ambition of joining Wes Ferrell, former Star Cleveland right-hander, as the only pitchers ever to win 20 or more games in each of their first four years in the majors.

The Boston Red Sox right-hander, who established an American League mark for pitchers in 1946 when he won 46 games in his first two seasons in the big time, is still two years away from the mark.

Along with the rest of the Red Sox staff, Dave looked far from impressive. Skeptics who early last season termed him a wartime pitcher and were forced to get their words, began to pop up again. "He needs lots of runs to win," they observed.

Ferriss again yesterday proved that this was a wrong observation. Boston made only eight hits yesterday, three of which he contributed himself, but Dave gave up only seven and whipped the Chicago White Sox 6-2 at Comiskey Park to give the American League champions a split in their doubleheader. The White Sox outscored the Red Sox 6-5 in the nightcap.

Ferriss Hitting Helps Sox
It took strong hitting on his own part to win yesterday. He drove in three runs with a triple and a single and scored once to account for four of Boston's six runs.

Frank play helped give the White Sox the second game win. With the bases loaded in the fifth inning, Murrell Jones hit to shortstop Johnny Pesky who flipped to second baseman Don Gutteridge forcing Dave Philley. Philley slid in hard and put a football block on Gutteridge, grounding the little infielder. Thurman Tucker and Jack Wallinga hurried home with what proved to be the winning runs.

Johnny Neun's Cincinnati Reds knocked the New York Giants out of sole possession of the National League leadership when they handed previously unbeaten Clint Hartung his first setback of the season and crushed the Giants 9-3. The defeat dropped the Polo Ground crew into a tie for first place with the idle Chicago Cubs.

Cardinals Beat Dodgers in 10th

Lefty Howie Pilet pitched and battled the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field. Pilet cracked a single in the 10th inning to score Iones Slaughter from second with the tie-breaking run. Pittsburgh throttled a ninth inning rally by Boston and nosed out the Braves 4-3 in Boston. It was only the Pirates' second triumph in seven meetings with the Braves.

In a night game at St. Louis, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Browns, 6-3. The A's rocked Cliff Fannin for three runs in the second and scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Jackie first sacker Ferris Fain homered.

Scheduled doubleheaders between New York and Cleveland and Washington and Detroit were postponed because of rain.

Boulevard Gulf Trims Seven Up In League Game

Boulevard Gulf trimmed Seven-Up in a City League baseball game last night, 8-5, in the first extra inning contest of the season. The winners scored three runs in the eighth, breaking a 5-5 deadlock, when Mahar was safe on an error, Forte walked, and Koch bunted safely down the third base line. A clean single by Tomson scored Mahar and Forte, with Williams squeezing the final run home.

Behind by five runs in the 5th, Boulevard Gulf tallied three runs with two away. Trice and Williams singled, with Turk and Purvis getting on through an error and a bad throw.

The score was tied in the 6th on singles by Trice, Mahar and Forte, with an error by Seven-Up. The boxscore:

Frank's Sport Shop Leads Kingston Softball League

Frank's Sport Shop leads the City Softball League with a 4-0 record as a result of a win over the Village Rest team last night by a score of 15-3. The game was played at the Armory No. 2 diamond.

This win, close on the heels of B'nai Brith's surprising upset of the Subway Grill No. 1 team gives Frank's the sole leadership.

Hunt Hurls 6-Hit Game
Al Hunt, on the mound for Frank's, garnered his fourth league triumph last night, allowing the losers only six hits. Hunt's teammates hammered Bill Ferguson and Bob Walker of the Village Rest squad unmercifully for 25 base hits.

B'nai Brith Springs Upset
While Frank's coasted to an easy victory, B'nai Brith fought all the way to nose out the Subway Grill team 3-2. Basch, pitching for the winners, hit a homer to start the game rolling. The Gellers came back to score one in the third and one in the fifth and take the lead.

In the top half of the seventh, B'nai Brith sent in the two winning runs when Silverberg singled, Markowitz doubled to right center and Schneider singled to left.

Oilers Trim Central Lunch
The Berardi Oilers went into a batting spree at the Armory diamond last night, slamming out 21 hits for a 17-6 win over Central Lunch. Lou Berardi had a perfect night, with five for five at bat. John Berardi and Joe Watzka each poled out long homers for the Oilers. Carl homered for Central.

Fullers and Hercules Win
Fullers downed Jacobsons 19-1, and Hercules took a 6-4 game away from Subway Grill No. 2.

Strikes Out Big Leaguers
Egypt, Pa., June 3 (AP)—An 18-year-old schoolboy named Curt Simmons struck out 11 major leaguers in an exhibition baseball game with the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League. But he had to be content with a 4-4 tie. Two of the runs scored against him were unearned as his teammates on the Egypt club of the Lehigh Valley Twilight League committed five errors.

Simmons, All-American boy of 1935, limited the National Leaguers to seven hits in the contest which was halted by darkness yesterday.

Landers, catching for Hurley, stole home in the 10th to clinch the game for his teammates. Jordan, Havens and Klonsky hit hard for Kingston, with Landers, Chris, Hickey and Snyder supplying the lethal power for Hurley.

The Kingston battery was Haven and Juhl, and Snyder and Landers for Hurley.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, June 2—At a recent meeting of the town board of the town of Wavering, Supervisor Kelb brought up the matter of public liability insurance. The board turned him down on the proposition, which would have entailed an expense of $1,840 a year. It was shown that during the past 10 years the cost of damages against the town had been less than $500.

There was the usual Memorial Day observance in Ellenville, with a parade sponsored by the Veterans Council of Ellenville, of which Matthew Stoppard is chairman. The various veterans organizations, Boy and Girl Scouts, Brownies and Cubs, with town and village officials, took part in the parade. Ben J. Crumer was marshal. At the monument on the Veterans Memorial Hospital grounds, there were brief remarks by Chairman Stoppard, Mayor Gomer Ripper and a memorial service conducted by the Rev. John C. Eason. At the cemetery in Ellenville, where the Rev. Francis Kleinend pronounced the benediction.

The new fire siren at Napanoch, recently purchased by the Fire District, went into operation May 30. During the day the siren will be sounded at 8, 12, 1 and 5. Fire Chief Andrew Gray has announced.

The heavy thunderstorm which struck Ellenville shortly before 7 o'clock Thursday night did considerable damage to trees through the central part of the village, principally on Maple avenue, Center and Warren streets. Several trees were blown down and large limbs were torn from others. The corner of the house and porch of Thomas G. Smith, on Center street, was badly damaged by a large limb. Street lights were put out of commission, as well as house lights in some sections.

The Methodist Church was filled Sunday morning when the new pastor, the Rev. J. Elmer Cates, preached his first sermon. He spoke from the text, "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart."
